Music that Soothes the Soul

Messianic Psalmist Melissa David lifts spirits with new collection of instrumentals

December 8, 2015 (Toronto, Canada) "I walked into the kitchen, and I heard the most beautiful music. My wife told me that it is Melissa David's new CD. That is some heavenly music. RUN AND BUY IT. I hear the Holy Spirit in this music. Thank you for producing this album." These are the words of Rabbi Itzhak Shapira of Ahavat Ammi Ministries, upon first hearing the inspiring new album Beginnings by Melissa (Dittrich) David.

Most known for her moving worship songs Hoshiana, My Shepherd, Jeremiah 29, and for her collaborations with husband, Messianic Violinist Dan David, Melissa has branched out into fresh territory with this inspiring collection. Perfect music for a quiet Shabbat or a special event, her original compositions (spanning a music career of 20 years and counting) lift the listener's soul into a realm of simplicity and beauty. The quiet piano solos are enhanced on five tracks by the masterful orchestration of industry veteran, Canadian Rob Horvath, who has written music for films and television, also working with iconic groups such as the Canadian Brass.

Melissa is a graduate of the University of Lethbridge, Canada (B.A. Music with Great Distinction). Her calling is to use her musical gifts as a minstrel and a healer. In the same way that King David's music caused Saul's oppression to flee, Melissa has received testimonies from all over the world of supernatural shalom, deliverance from fear and oppression, and even physical healing from her anointed music.

Beginnings is available for download through online sellers such as iTunes and Amazon. Physical copies can be purchased using the links on Melissa's website, www.healingmelodies.ca
